A Moussaka Recipe For You

One of my very favorite meals of all time. It never gets thrown away and puts a smile on every ones face at meal time. This traditional Mediterranean meal is a Greek dish and it includes not only traditional eggplant and lamb, but also potatoes for a tasty, comfort food casserole. It's as easy as pie too (excuse the food pun).

The Ingredients

- 3 eggplants
- 1/2 cup olive oil, plus additional for oiling the pan and the aluminum foil
- 1 medium onion, minced
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- 1/2 pound ground lamb
- 2 tsp ground cinnamon
- 1 tsp ground cumin
- 1 tsp freshly ground black pepper
- 1-1/2 pounds baking potatoes, scrubbed
- 2 eggs, lightly beaten

Preparation

1. Slice the eggplant in half, then score the cut side with a sharp paring knife without breaking the skin. Heat a large skillet over high heat.
2. Mix in 2 tablespoons of the olive oil, then add two eggplant halves, cut side down. Sear for 1 minute, add 3 tablespoons water. Cover and reduce the heat to low. Steam the eggplant halves for 10 minutes. Set the halves aside to cool on a large platter and repeat with the remaining halves.
3. When the eggplant has cooled enough that you can handle it, scrape the pulp into a large bowl using a teaspoon, taking care not to break the skin. You should have 4 cups eggplant pulp. Reserve the skins, discarding any additional pulp.

4. Then heat up a large skillet or saute pan over medium heat. Swirl in the remaining 2 tablespoons olive oil, then add the onion and cook until soft and fragrant, about 2 minutes, stirring frequently. Stir in the garlic. Cook for 30 seconds. Include the ground lamb and cook until lightly browned, about 2 minutes, stirring constantly.
5. Include the 4 cups eggplant pulp and the sweet vermouth. Mix well with a wooden spoon, then stir in the cinnamon, salt, cumin, and pepper. Continue cooking until the eggplant gives off its liquid and begins to coat the pan with a fine film, about 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Set aside to cool for at least 30 minutes. (The eggplant filling can be made up to this point a day in advance; cover tightly when cooled and refrigerate, then allow to come back to room temperature before proceeding.)
6. You can peel (some don't) the potatoes and cut them in half. Beginning with the cut side, cut off thin slices, using a sharp knife or a sturdy vegetable peeler. Place the potato slices in a large bowl of water as you work.
7. Boil a medium pot of water. Drain the potato slices and add them to the pot. Cook just until crisp, about 3 minutes. Drain — taking care, as they are fragile — and set aside.
8. Stir the eggs into the eggplant pulp mixture. Position the rack in the center of the oven and preheat the oven to 350 degrees F. Oil a 2-quart high-sided souffle dish with olive oil.
9. Put the eggplant skins in the souffle dish, skin side out, so that they meet and overlap on the bottom, then rise up along the insides of the dish. In other words, the eggplant skins should form a kind of “skin” around the moussaka as it bakes. Overlap them as necessary. If any tear, plug the hole with a small amount of the eggplant pulp mixture. Let the skins hang over the top of the souffle dish.
10. Place one-fifth of the potato slices on top of the eggplant skins on the bottom of the dish. Top with 1 cup eggplant pulp mixture. Build three more layers, then top with a final layer of potato slices. Fold the eggplant skins over to seal the dish. If the skins don't meet, it doesn't matter.
11. Slightly oil up (olive oil only) a 10-inch-long piece of foil. Place it, oiled side down, over the casserole and loosely seal it. Bake the moussaka for 1 hour 30 minutes. Let cool on a wire rack for 5 minutes, then serve.

- 1/4 teaspoon cardamom
- 1/4 cup almonds

1. Rinse the peach halves, and arrange them face up on baking sheet. Mix ricotta cheese thoroughly with honey and cardamom. Spoon the honey-ricotta mixture into the peach halves. Bake peaches at 400 degrees for about 15 minutes.
2. While the peaches are baking, grind almonds in a food processor until coarsely ground. Gently toast in a pan over medium heat.
3. After removing the peaches from the oven, sprinkle them with the course toasted almond meal.

Rolled Light Baklava

The Ingredients

1/4 lemon
3 tablespoons olive oil
3 tablespoons safflower oil
1 cup almonds
1/2 cup walnuts
1 1/2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg
1/2 pound kataifi (shredded phyllo-optional)
6 phyllo sheets, preferably thick (#7), or 10 if you are not using the kataifi

For the syrup

1 1/3 cups honey, preferably thyme honey
1 1/3 cups water
1 1/3 cups sugar
1/2 lemon
1 cinnamon stick
Lemon Liqueur (optional)

Preparation

1. Preheat the oven to 350°F.
2. Halve the lemon quarter. In a small saucepan, heat the oil with the lemon over low heat for five minutes without boiling. Let it cool completely and discard the lemon.
3. Meanwhile, spread one-half cup of the almonds on a baking sheet and lightly toast, about 6 minutes. Coarsely chop the toasted almonds, the walnuts and the remaining half cup raw almonds in a food processor. In a medium bowl, combine almonds and walnuts, sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg.
4. Divide the kataifi into thirds and place it in a large plastic bag to keep it from drying out. Stack the phyllo sheets on a work surface and cover them with plastic wrap and then a damp kitchen towel.
5. Next oil a large baking sheet. Lay 1 sheet of phyllo on the work surface and brush it lightly with the lemon oil. Lay 1 more sheet of phyllo on top and brush with oil. Sprinkle about 2 1/2-3 tablespoons of the almond mixture over the phyllo, leaving about 1 1/2 inches of the short side farthest from you uncovered.
6. Distribute one-third of the kataifi over the almond mixture, again leaving about 1 1/2 inches of the short side farthest from you uncovered. Drizzle the kataifi with some oil and sprinkle about 2 1/2 tablespoons of the almond mixture evenly over it.

7. Next roll the baklava. Brush the phyllo border generously with oil. Starting with the short side nearest you, roll up the phyllo tightly like a jelly roll, while brushing the outside lightly with oil as you roll. Press to seal and turn the roll seam side down on the work surface. Cut the log into 10 equal pieces and then place the pieces cut side up about 1/2 inch apart on the baking sheet. Make 2 more logs (20 more baklava rolls) in the same manner if you are using the kataifi, or 4 smaller rolls if you are just using the phyllo sheets.
8. Bake the rolls on the middle rack of the oven until golden brown, about 30 minutes.
9. While it's baking, make the syrup. In a medium saucepan, combine honey, water, sugar, lemon and cinnamon stick. Bring it to a boil, stirring, and simmer until the sugar is completely dissolved. Let it cool until just warm; discard the lemon and cinnamon stick. Transfer the hot baklava rolls to a baking dish large enough to hold them tightly in a single layer and pour warmed syrup over them, making sure to cover each roll with some. Let it stand for 2 to 3 hours. Turn the rolls over, and if you like, drizzle with lemon liqueur. Cover, and let stand at room temperature for at least 1 day before serving.
10. Baklava rolls will keep in airtight containers for up to 2 weeks.
11. Makes 30 large, or 50 smaller baklava rolls

Polenta

The Ingredients

- 4 cups water
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 cup yellow cornmeal
- 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup finely crumbled feta cheese
- 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter or margarine, melted
- 1 1/2 teaspoons dried basil
- 1 1/2 teaspoons dried rosemary
- 1/2 teaspoon minced garlic

Preparation

1. Bring water and salt to a boil in a heavy saucepan. Reduce heat to medium-low and gradually sprinkle in cornmeal, whisking constantly to prevent any lumps from forming. Gently boil 20 to 25 minutes, stirring often with a wooden spoon, until it is very thick, but still pourable. Remove this from heat and stir in 1/4 cup butter and cheese. Now, rinse a 15 1/2 x 10 1/2-inch jellyroll pan with cold water, and do not dry it. Spread hot Polenta evenly in the pan with a rubber spatula. Refrigerate at least 30 minutes or until firm.
2. Preheat oven to 350 degrees F and lightly grease a 13 x 9-inch baking dish.
3. Make 3 lengthwise and 5 crosswise cuts in Polenta to yield 15 squares. Arrange the polenta squares, slightly overlapping, in baking dish. Mix with 1/4 cup butter, basil, rosemary and garlic. Melt, then pour over polenta. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake 30 minutes.
4. Serve hot.

Eggplant Hummus

- 1 1/2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons (generous) tahini (sesame seed paste)*
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 2 teaspoons chopped fresh parsley

Preparation

Preheat oven to 350°F. Cut eggplant in half lengthwise, then score flesh in a crisscross pattern at 1-inch intervals, 1/2 inch deep. Rub the cut sides with 1 1/2 tablespoons oil; sprinkle with salt. Place eggplant on rimmed baking sheet with the cut side down. Bake until tender, about 1 1/2 hours. Cool slightly, then scoop flesh into processor, but discard the skins. Add the garbanzo beans, remaining 1 1/2 tablespoons oil, lemon juice, tahini, and garlic; puree until the mixture is almost smooth. Transfer it to bowl; stir in parsley.

Bruschetta Recipe For The Taste Experts

Bruschetta is a popular favourite among many Mediterranean countries and has developed according to taste. You'll love this because it's so easy to prepare and it tastes great. There is a choice of cheeses because now many people are adopting Feta as a tasty alternative to Parmesan – you choose the cheese you prefer. I like both! This is one of the easiest Mediterranean diet recipes to prepare and is great when you're short on time, guests are coming or you're about to watch a good DVD with a friend. Here's how you do it.

The Ingredients

- 6 tomatoes, chopped
- 3 cloves garlic
- 1/4 cup extra virgin olive oil
- 1/4 cup fresh basil, no stems
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 French baguette
- 2 cups parmesan or feta cheese

Preparation

1. Preheat the oven for grilling.
2. In a bowl, mix the tomatoes, garlic, extra virgin olive oil, basil, & pepper. Let it sit for about 5 minutes.
3. Cut the baguette into thick slices. Place on a baking sheet, arrange the baguette slices in a single layer. Gril or broil for 11/2 minutes, until golden brown (light).
4. Divide the tomato mixture evenly over the baguette slices. Top the slices with your choice of cheese.
5. Grill or broil the cheese so it is just slightly melted. Tip - I add slices of Kalumatta olives for taste
